* * Be Santa's Helper * * Junior Chamber and Graphic To Sponsor Santa for Poor Children; Your Help Asked

Will you help to make this Christmas a bright and happy one for an under-privileged child in some needy Newton family?

Even in this wonderful city of ours where so many of us enjoy so full a life there are many homes which know hardship and deprivation from one end of the year

And there are scores upon scores of humble homes in this Garden City where some small and hopeful boy or girl will wait in vain for Santa Claus to call on Christmas Eve-unless you dig down and help just a little.

The Graphic is joining forces with the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce in a campaign to see that Santa has as many of those deserving children on his list as possible this year.

This undertaking will not duwant to have when they wake plicate the efforts of any of the up on Christmas morning.

Two 15-year-old boys from good homes in a fine residential section of West Newton are facing charges in Juvenile Court stemming from a series of eight burglaries and a ninth attempted break.

The youths confessed to the breaks under questioning by police after one of them was picked up on his way home from a burglary by an alert, off-duty officer. Because of their ages, the names of the two boys are not being made public.

In several of the homes they burglarized the two boys left notes which they signed "The Timid Thieves."

One of the notes was scrawled with lipstick. One note they left behind them chided the police for not giving publicity to their robberies and corrected a report that they had taken $35 in cash from a home on Losses to Waltham and Brookline forced Newton into fifth place in the annual listings of the Class A high schools of Eastern Massachusetts. That is a spot, however, most Newton supporters hardly hoped to attain at season's start. The Tigers gave a grand account of themselves through most of the football season. They were in the running for top honors until the final weeks of the campaign.

An idea of how things were heavily-loaded on the Brookline side of the leager will be gained from the fact that the Wealthy Towners were obliged to punt only once all morning. On that punt Yancey scored.

The reason is that when the present eight wards were map-ped out, they crossed the lines of two legislative districts. Under the law the legislative sectors can be redistricted only every 10 years and then by the Legislature and Governor.

Some doubt exists on Beacon Hill as to whether the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives will allow the bill authorizing the 8-ward setup to go through.

The bill calling for a referendum on the question of banning Aldermen from holding any other city job would be placed on the ballot in next year's State election.

It's safe to predict that Christmas 1957 is soing to mark the big change-over to color TV in a great many homes where televiewing up till now has been confined to black-and-white. The differences in their TV enjoyment will, of course, be immeasurable... but how about the differences involved in the selection of a new color set?

of a new color set?

For the most part, the buyer will want to watch for the same guideposts as if he were selecting a new black-and-white set... picture clarity, sound fidelity, ease of tuning, suitability and appearance of the style and cabinetry. While the amount of attention paid to the qualities of sound and appearance should remain about the same, the matters of picture and picture-controls really deserve a double amount of interest... if only because the compatible-color TV set does double duty, as a color TV and a black-and-white receiver.

But there is one TV shouping fac-and-white receiver.

But there is one TV shopping factor that increases in importance far more than any other point... and that is the choice of dealer. The proper installation and maintenance of color TV demand entirely new equipment and, above all, a thorough knowledge of the new circuits and complexities involved. Mere understanding of the theory and fundamentals of color television is not enough. You'll want to be certain there is an expert, up-to-the-minute Color TV Service Department standing behind the Color TV receiver you purchase. So when you send in your donation, please indicate how you would like it listed in The Graphic.

way you wish-just so that it can be acknowledged and a list kept of all the contributions. There will be no expenses and no overhead for this Santa Fund. Every dollar and every dime received will be spent for Christmas gifts for poor boys and girls. And if parents who know they're not going to be able to give their small sons and daughters anything for Christmas will drop us a note, we'll do our best to step into the breach. But please remember that Christmas is only 20 days away—three weeks from yester-day. The time is short. So please send a small donation today or this weekend to the Santa Fund care of Giles

Mosher at the Newton-Waltham Savings Bank. If you will dig down into your pocket for a very modest donation, the energetic members of the Junior Chamber of Com-merce and The Graphic staff will do the rest. We recognize that many re-quests are made upon your generosity.

What's Good For Johnny?

There's nothing more enlightening than a PTA meeting. You meet the other parents. You meet the teachers. You feel educationally and socially up-lifted—until you get home.

When you get home, you start wondering about John-ny's last report card and whether there's a teacher-pupil conflict there. You also wonder if it was necessary for the teacher to go into all those technical terms while he or she was explaining some of his or her problems.

You go to bed happy, once you figure out that it's all best for Johnny. You figure what's best for Johnny must be best for everybody—and Johnny's teacher did say something good for Johnny. She liked the way he put his commas in, or the way he addressed himself to the chemistry problem.

We have solved the problem between parents and teachers in the PTA. There's no longer a wide, forgotten gulf between them.

What's best for Johnny and what's best for General Motors may be something less than best for the time being.

When Harvard opened up for the business of education half way through the 17th century, there were no PTAs. Professors or teachers were on their own. If they lost their tempers, Johnny bore the brunt. It did Johnny no good if he brought his parents in to ask for clemency -or a better mark Today when Johnny's mother says — "Johnny doesn't science" — or — "Johnny thinks chemistry's too like science" dull," you'll find the PTA taking up Johnny's cause.

The Russians seem to have adopted a different attitude.

They seem to claim that Johnny should do a lot of things he doesn't like to do. They don't seem to care about the feelings of Johnny's parents in the matter.

Political Overtones

King on the job, but there are even stronger signs that when the political chips are down the Governor cannot count on the Executive Council to stand with him on a

In fact, he can't even depend on the support of the Democratic Councillors on a non-controversial matter, for there was no real public or political opposition to the reappointment of Registrar King. In truth, public sentiwas legally possible.

In order to reject Furcolo's recommendation to extend King's service as Registrar for another seven months, five Democratic Executive Councillors had to achieve new heights of inconsistency.

It is imossible to reconcile their action in confirming the appointment of former Governor James M. Curley to the State Industrial Accident Board at the age of 82 and then turning around a few weeks later and voting that King must get out as registrar immediately upon reaching his 70th birthday.

Political observers on Beacon Hill surmise that Governor Furcolo didn't put too much pressure on the Democratic members of the Executive Council to vote to keep King on the job for another seven months.

The basis of that opinion is that Councillor Joseph R. Crimmins of Somerville has been a staunch and stal-wart supporter of Governor Furcolo all year long and that Furcolo probably could have persuaded him to vote for King's temporary reappointment if he had made an allout effort to do so.

That may or may not be the fact. A shift by Crimmins would have made the Council vote 5-4 for King instead of victory for Furcolo and King — if, indeed, it was a defeat for Furcolo.

What happened, of course, was that Crimmins both spoke and voted against King's reappointment.

It is an unusual thing for a Democratic Governor to be able to muster only one out of six Democratic votes on anything he recommends. It is practically impossible to visualize such an occurrence under former Governor Paul A. Dever.

Yet, the only Democratic Councillor who voted for King's reappointment was Patrick J. McDonough, and it is fairly obvious that he did so because of his respect for and friendship with King, not because Furcolo prevailed upon him to vote that way.

The evidence that Furcolo has lost any real vestige of control over an Executive Council which is 6-3 Democratic is fairly convincing.

Whatever Furcolo's private feelings may have been toward reappointment of King-whether he did everything in his power to put it over or merely staged a political act and went through the motions without really extending himself-there is no question but that he did ardently desire the appointment of James L. Vallely as a judge in the Barnstable district court.

Vallely was a member of Furcolo's own office force. A rejection of his appointment would have been a direct rebuff to the Governor and a blow to his prestige.

Furcolo would have suffered that setback but for the fact that Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., son of the former Governor, voted to confirm Vallely's appointment to the bench.

Herter recognized as a matter of fairness that back through the years Governors under an unwritten law were considered to have the right to name members of their own office staffs to judgeships beyond the districts or counties in which they lived.

Councillor Herter's father exercised that privilege on at least one occasion. So did most of the Governors who preceded him on Beacon Hill.

Those were considerations which confronted the younger Herter when it came time to vote to confirm or eject Vallely's appointment.

He could have played politics and voted against Vallely on the ground that he was not a year-around resident

Herter's vote was the deciding one. He could have maculate of made the Council count 4-3 against Vallely or 4-3 for him. The younger Herter could have cast the vote which would have meant another stinging rebuff for Furcolo. The impulse to do that must have been strong, for Councillor Herter sat silently in the House chamber last January while Furcolo devoted much of his inaugural address to assailing the administration of the Councillor's father. But Councillor Herter cast his vote the way he considered fair and right. His vote saved the day for Furcolo and Vallely. It made Vallely a judge, and it spared Fur-

That bespeaks a great deal for the character of Christian A. Herter, Jr. but it doesn't say much for the degree of control Furcolo wields in the Executive Coun-

Furcolo, of course, did a little back-stage maneuvring which helped to accomplish the confirmation of Vallely. He remained away from the Council meeting. This placed Lieutenant Governor Robert F. Murphy in the chair as presiding officer and prevented him from voting.

Murphy presumably consented to the maneuvre. As the Acting Governor he could have withdrawn Vallely's appointment if he wished to exercise that power. Instead he merely announced that he would have voted against the appointment if he had been able to vote.

Political onlookers at the State House point out that Furcolo didn't go to any such lengths as that to save King for another seven months.

It's true that he didn't. But even if he had employed the same tactics King's reappointment would still have been rejected by a 4-4 tie vote. And Furcolo hardly can be expected to finagle through every appointment on which he lacks the necessary support in the council.

"IT WAS A NICE TRY, BUT . . . " seems to sum up public opinion about competitive cars attempting to equal the styling and features of the Swept-Wing 58. They tried to get as low, but had to lower the roof to do it. (Less headroom, same high, boxy, cooped-up look.) Their windshields got smaller, while ours got bigger. Most of them still don't have Total-Contact Brakes to assure smooth, even, safe stops when needed. Nor do they offer push-button TorqueFlite, the proven automatic transmission, and Constant-Control power steering that works full time-not part time as some other systems do. And Dodge no-sway, no-dip Torsion-Aire is standard equipment. (Bus-type air springs offered by some cars cost well over $100.00 extra.) So compare all the 1958 models with Dodge. We think you'll agree: Other cars are catching on, but they can't catch up.

Anthony Davis PRESENTS HIS EXCLUSIVE BODY WAVE $10.00

The Body Wave is a form of permanent waving used on hair that either has a little natural wave or hair that waves easily. It does not add appreciably to the amount of wave already in the hair, but sives such strength and resiliency to the wave as to make the hair seem naturally wavy and remarkably easy to put up. to put up.

It is for hair to which the ordinary permanent wave (however soft) gives too much curl.

It is not generally advisable for straight hair.

Newton Santa for Poor Children Asks for Help to Answer Appeals

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., and G overnor's Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., today warmly endorsed the campaig n by The Graphic and the Junior Chamber of Commerce to make this coming Christm as a bright and cheery one for under-privileged children in humble Newton homes.

Both Mayor Whitmore and Councill or Herter dug down into their pockets to join the first contributors to the fund being raised by The Graphic and the Junior Chamber in an attempt to assure that Newton boys and girls, whose parents will be unable to give them anything on the Yul etide, will not be forgotten on Christmas morning.

Motor Vehicle Excise Tax To Rise Next Year

Newton automobile owners face a sharp increase in the motor excise tax rate they must pay on their cars as a result of the upward trend of the tax rates in Massachusetts cities and towns.

The motor vehicle excise tax next year will be $60.25 per $1000 of valuation.

The formula used in determining the motor excise tax is to obtain the average of the tax rates in all the cities and towns of the Commonwealth for the past three years.

Thieves who carried off a small but heavy safe from the home of Austin Norcross at 120 Waban avenue, Waban, lugged the strong box all the way to Canton and then forced its door. They spurned its contents which included $1800 worth of U.S. Savings Bonds. However, they made sure they weren't left empty-handed by their choosiness. They carried a fur coat, two watches, other wearing apparel and $50 in cash from the house. That part of the loot was not recovered. The safe was taken to the Canton police station and later turned over to the Newton police.

A short time after the State Public Utilities Commission approved preliminary plans of the MTA for the purchase of the Highland Branch of the Boston & Albany railroad at a cost of $600,000, it became known that the New Haven railroad has filed a bill in the Legislature seeking permission to give away its commuter lines.

This has caused a tremendous reaction among legislators on Beacon Hill who have indicated that they cannot understand why one railroad can sell a commuter line for $600,000, while another railroad apparently is anxious to turn over its commuter lines to anyone who wants them. - SALE -(Continued on Page 8)

An army of 2200 men and women volunteer workers were given warm praise today for their part in achieving the tremendous showing made by Newton in the recent United Fund drive.

Newton raised more money in the residential and small business drive for the United Fund than any other Greater Boston community except Boston and came very close to the amount obtained in Boston itself, Kumin

He reported that Newton, with slightly more than 3 percent of the population of the area covered by the United Fund drive, gave 15 percent of the more than 15 percent of the perc the money received by the Fund in residential contributions.

Reporting on the financial condition of the institution, Richard Wengren, treasurer. stated that salary raises for nurses and other staff members necessitated the raising of hospital rates twice last year. He revealed, however, that the two anonymous gifts — one of $10,000 and the other of $20,000 plus a pledge of $24,000 for special equipment by the Hospital Aid and $27,000 in other contributions have eased a tight, ready-cash situation resulting from new construction expenses.

In his address, Dr. Mather urged increased support of public higher education, stating that Massachusetts is the 48th state in the union in the amount of public support for higher education.

A summary of the activities of the several departments of was highlighted by members of the Newton Community Fel-the Newton Community Fel-year and a forecast of what effects on the hospital the new construction will have was giv en by William S. Brines, director of Newton-Wellesley.

Samuel Fitch reported for the Board of Governors; Henry Dunker, speaking for the Investment Committee, noted a number of changes in the investment portfolio with a shift in emphasis from stocks to bonds; and Miss Myrtice L. Fuller, reporting for the School of Nursing and for Nursing Service, revealed that the hospital has a larger contingent of staff nurses than it has been able to enlist for a number of years and reported 57 members in the incoming class at the school.

Speaking as chairman of the Executive Committee of the Medical Staff, Dr. Richard I. Smith spoke favorably about the temporary accident facilities being employed; gifts totaling $18.225 were given to the hospital by the Hospital Aid Group, stated Mrs. Worthing L.

It was voted to send a letter of commendation to Charles R. Cabot who has resigned as clerk, and a vote of thanks for his services was voted John Fox who is retiring from the Board of Governors.

Are Your Decorations Safe?

One of the most significant aftermaths of the disaster which was Cocoanut Grove was the adoption of a code of building and fire laws aimed at preventing a repetition of that holocaust.

In the operation of one section of those laws only 13,909 spectators can be admitted to Boston Garden on any occasion. Sometimes—as in the instance of a boxing match when only part of the floor is used for a ring there is room for many thousand more. The law says, "Noonly 13,090."

Another section bans smoking in Massachusetts theatres, even in smoke rooms set apart for the purpose. The law goes pretty deeply into the matter of decorations in public buildings, too. For instance, a huge department store, even with a company of firemen standing individual and the community by with hoselines on a 24-hour basis, could not set up a real Christmas tree indoors. Sometimes the law seems to go a little too farparticularly when you are turned away from an athletic ing. spectacle at Boston Garden when you know there's room inside. Or when you have to step out on a wintry sidewalk between acts of show, in order to have a cigarette. You'll hear the unthinking day, "It's sily." Anyone who saw the cauldron that night Cocoanut

Grove was destroyed won't consider it silly. They have seen some terrible reasons why fire laws in public places should be tough and sternly enforced.

But the law can only go so far, when it comes to the private home. That's a man's castle. Lawmakers don't like to tell a man that he can't do this or that within the walls of his own home.

They can lay down regulations for wiring and things like that but they can't tell him "You can't risk your life and those of family by doing any number of foolish things, especially when the Christmas-New Year holiday season

Every year the number of lives sacrificed in American homes through fire mounts during the holiday season.

The irony of the sacrifice lays in the fact that to a great extent it is due to a desire of its victims to bring into the home some of the flimsy decorations the law would not permit in a public building.

A Christmas tree ablaze with lights on Christmas morn is thrilling and beautiful. But does it overload those wires beyond capacity? Are those lights being fed through delicate wires long overworn? Is the tree itself dry and ready to burst into flames on the tough of the smallest spark?

Decorations make homes beautiful on the holidays. But do they hold an invitation to swift tragedy?

It is all right to figure on just the right height. It's all right, too, to seek out one that's "bushy" at the bottom and symmetrical in its lines. You can't be blamed either if you want one that has an attractive top. But there's more to the purchase than that. Provided, you're thinking about the tree's safety.

Before you buy, bounce the tree butt on the ground. If the needles drop off easily you can deduct pretty accurately that it's dry or becoming dry. Rub the tip of a finger across the stump. If it's sticky you have evidence that it's still fresh. Examine it for a healthy green color. The tree that's really green and fresh will give off a fragrant odor. If there are brown patches on its limbs put it back. The tree is already a fire hazard. When you get it home, nurserymen also give a few tips on how to make it more safe and last longer.

Cut an inch or two on a slant from the base. Then peel back the bark another inch.

Then place the street stump in a bucket of cold water. Keep the tree outdoors or in a cool garage until it's ready to be decorated. Occasionally sprinkle it with cold

A feeling exists in well informed Republican circles, however, that GOP leaders may come up with a surprise choice whose name has not even been mentioned in connection with the chairmanship, and there are rumblings of hectic activity by party chieftains behind the scenes. One of the whispers is that the man several influential Republican bigwigs would like to see in the post is Bradford Morse of Lowell, who is serving as administrative assistant to Senator Leverett Saltonstall in Washing-

The flaw in the situation is that up to the time this s written they have not been able to persuade Morse to take the rather thankless job.

Morse's reluctance is readily understandable. Service as chairman of either the Republican or Democratic State Committee leads more often to political grief than to glory. Two of the recent State Committee chairmen Politics being what it is, it's difficult for a State chairman to satisfy everyone even momentarily, and over a long period that comes pretty close to being impossible.

While no one in the Republican councils will admit it, Senator Saltonstall undoubtedly will have a great deal to say about the choice of the next GOP chairman, and he may be able to induce Morse to step into the breach.

It didn't make much impression on ayone except the carefully listening politicians, but Saltonstall indi-cated the other day that he intends to stand for reelection to another term in 1960.

The senior Massachusetts Senator was being interviewed on television station WHDH-TV, and he was asked bluntly whether he plans to run again. He didn't answer the question with a straight "Yes" or "No," but he said he wants to serve the people of Massachusetts "just as long as they want to have me serve them." Then he added: "Certainly I have no present intention to retire from public office.'

The reason that caused the politicos to sit up in attention was that Saltonstall intimated privately, at least, during his battle with Foster Furcolo in 1954 that he was making his last run for public office.

It also means that Furcolo undoubtedly will be Salton-If you take the advice of nurserymen there is some-stall's adversary again in 1960 — if the present Governor

That means, too, that Saltonstall has a big stake in the outcome of the 1958 gubernatorial election. It means that he will be anxious to see the strongest possible candidate pitted against Furcolo next November and that he will want to see the best possible choice made for the GOP State Committee chairmanship.

Furcolo, of course, might be the Democratic nominee against Saltonstall in 1960 even if he's defeated for a second term. But in such an event he would not be as strong a contender as if he had two gubernatorial terms behind him, and he unquestionably would be forced to fight for the nomination which he could have for the asking if he were a sitting Governor.

Senator Saltonstall's prospects of winning again in 1960 will be much brighter if Furcolo is bumped off next year and a Republican is sitting in the Governor's chair two years from now. So you can be certain that he's giving some very careful thought right now to the selection of the next Republican chairman and to the other things happening on the Bay State's GOP front.

Charles Gibbons is one State Committee chairman who is getting out without waiting to be thrown out. He is planning to announce his gubernatorial aspirations about the middle of next month, and if he should succeed in his quest for the Governorship it would cause a great many politicos to revise their thinking as to the advisability of serving as State Committee chairman.

The former House speaker and GOP leader plans to leave on a vacation immediately after next week's meeting. He will be away over Christmas and New Year's and will return home about the middle of January to launch his drive for nomination at the pre-primary convention

How much good Gibbons has done for himself as State Committee chairman and how many delegate votes he has lined up is uncertain. He was never one to make much noise or to surround his political operations with much fanfare or ballyhoo, but the evidence is that he has not been idle.

Following a series of conferences with the chairman and vice chairmen of Republican ward and town committees he has quietly lined up 24 candidates to stand for election to the Massachusetts House of Representatives in close districts now represented by Democrats.

The guessing is that in the process he also has lined up some delegate votes for himself, although neither he nor anybody else is saying so.

By the time Gibbons returns from his vacation the Republican picture may be a good deal clearer than it is now. By that time it should be pretty well known whether the contest for the GOP nomination for Governor is going to be a two-man clash between Gibbons and Attorney General George Fingold or if party leaders are going to move someone else into the fight.

Aside from the fact that Gibbons proved to be the top man over Lodge by a five-vote margin, there are several surprising aspects to the results of that poll.

Also worthy of comment is the substantial vote polled by Congressman Curtis and Governor's Councillor to run for reelection to Congress, but he left the door slightly ajar for a draft. Herter would prefer to wait before striking out for higher office but might conceivably accept a place on the Republican ticket if he were convinced he could strengthen the GOP prospects by doing so. He has no gubernatorial ambitions at the dates for the Republican nomination for Governor, as now seems likely to be the case, it would be interesting if the Waltham Republican Club took another poll and limited their ballot to a choice between those two.

The Gibbons forces, incidentally, are jubilantly pointing to the results of a poll taken at the Waltham Republican Club recently. The club members were given a ballot containing these names and asked to mark their choice for Governor: Charles Gibbons, George Fingold, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Congressman Laurence Curtis, Executive Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., former Executive Councillor Bruce Crane and former State Pub-

The straw vote was: Gibbons 67, Lodge 62, Curtis 55, Herter 40, Fingold 28, Crane 26, Volpe 21 and Furbush 5. The five votes for Furbush were all write-ins. Waltham, of course, is Furbush's home city.

One is that Lodge did not come in first by a wide margin. It has generally been assumed that he could have the nomination for either Governor or U. S. Senator on a silver platter if he desired it. That straw vote would not indicate so. The explanation may be that Lodge has persistently discouraged all suggestions that he toss his hat into the political ring.

Order Early... for a Full Year at the Wheel!

The man you see above, talking with his Cadillac dealer, has just done a very wise thing.

From the first instant he saw the new 1958 Cadillac, he knew he would want to make this his year to own and drive the "car of cars"-and so, at the earliest possible moment, he came in to place his order for the color and model of his choice.

And what a sound decision it was!

For an early order means an early delivery-and an early delivery means a long acquaintance with all that is new and current in this finest of Cadillacs! And how rewarding those virtues are for 1958!

Here are Cadillac styling and majesty at their brilliant best . . . Fleetwood coachcrafting and luxury at their most bountiful . . . and Cadillac engineering and design at their very finest.

Lucky the man who will enjoy all of these prized Cadillac rewards this year. And doubly blessed the man who will claim them with an early delivery of the car of his dreams.

Whatever your favorite Cadillac model-whether it be the luxurious Sixty-Two Coupe or the fabulous Eldorado Brougham-we urge you to come in soon for a demonstration. And we invite you to place your order at your earliest opportunity.

Giant New Turbo-Generator Now in Service

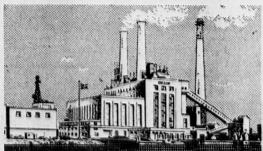

On December 5th, more power for the evergrowing needs of Greater Boston began flowing from a giant new turbo-generator at Boston Edison Company's Mystic Station. This triumph of engineering skill, with a capability of 140,000 kilowatts, is the largest single unit in our generating stations.

Edison's Generating Capability Now 1,036,800 Kilowatts

With the addition of this new giant, Edison's generating capability now stands at 1,036,800 kilowatts. That's double the capability available at the close of World War II. This new turbo-generator, part of our continuing plant expansion program, is the sixth major generating unit to go "on the line" since World

More Growth Now on the Way

Today our average residential customer uses more than twice as much electricity as he did ten years ago. Industrial and commercial demands have shown a similar growth. Hence, our plant expansion program continues. As the new 140,000 kilowatt turbo-generator goes into service at Mystic Station, construction is already under way for a companion unit of equal size. Along with generating equipment, our program calls for corresponding expansion of transmission and distribution facilities. Thus, as Greater Boston continues to grow greater, Boston Edison stands ready to power that growth.

Hold Instruction Technique at Cabot School PTA

Last Thursday evening (Dec. 5), the Cabot PTA held a workshop on Instruction Techniques, in the school auditorium. Six different subjects were set up for separate discussion and were aptly handled by specialists from the Division of Instruction of the public schools of the city. By dividing the meeting into small groups, it enabled the parents to get more information and to ask more pertinent ques-tions about the fields that especially interested them.

The moderator of the program was Mrs. Eleanor Lester, who is co-ordinator of elemen tary education in the Newton Public Schools. Those leading the discussion groups were: Mrs. Raymond Cook, principal of the Emerson and Hamilton Schools, who discussed arithmetic: Eugene Gray, who led the discussion in the field of Science; Mrs Ella May Gay, who answered questions on Social Studies; and Oral and Written communica tion skills were aptly handled by Miss Euphrosyne Georgas.

Reading for the first three grades was led by Miss Katherine Torrant, and Mrs. June Zervas led the discussion for reading techniques for the upper elementary grades.

A recorder in every group took essential notes which will be brought back to the general meeting for further discussion.

Says Non Smokers Live Longer Than Heavy Smokers

Through the smoke-filled room at a meeting of the Ro-tary Club held recently, Dr. Richard Overholt, speaking on "The Lung as a Chimney," told the members present that twenty-five years ago, very few chest operations were performed, but today, about fifty percent of his work is operating on people with lung disease and most of those people smoke. He showed slides of how smoking has a definite effect on the lungs, and in some cases pro-duces Cancer and Heart trouble.

Dr. Overholt stated that nine-ty-five percent of the tars in cigarettes finds its way into the blood stream and that one hundred people out of one hundred thousand who are heavy smokers develop Cancer of the Non-smokers, he said, lived eight years and nine months longer than heavy smokers.

In closing he pointed out that not only is smoking a harmful, dirty, dangerous habit, but a costly one, as the heavy smoker spends about $4,000 in a lifetime, using the lung as a chimney.

Representative Heaney posed the rebate when it was assed by the last session of the Legislature. There Is Still Time to Donate to Santa Fund Being Raised to Provide Yuletide Gifts For Needy Newton Boys and Girls

Only a short time remains in which to make a donation to the Santa Claus Fund which The Graphic and the Junior Chamber of Commerce are raising to purchase Christmas gifts for deserving Newton children whose parents are unable to buy them anything for the Yuletide.

But members of the staff of The Graphic and the Junior Chamber will work right up until Christmas Eve to see that every dollar that is donated is used to make some boy or girl happy on the day of the year when all children should be happy. So if you can find it in the

Furcolo Can Get Sales Tax If He Compromises on Bill

Governor Furcolo can obtain the enactment of a sales tax at the 1958 legislative session if he desires to do so. The one qualification to that statement is that it would be necessary for him to give his support to a sales tax bill which is acceptable to the Republican leadership in the House and the Senate.

It is not likely that a sales tax will be adopted during a year when all the office-holders on Beacon Hill, from Governor Furcolo down, will be thinking in terms of the coming election and will be weighing their actions in terms of the effect they would have upon their prospects of retaining their posts.

But it could be done—if Furcolo compromised enough to meet the Republicans half way and then exerted the same pressure upon Democratic legislators as he did this

Whether the Governor is willing to do that is a question which only time will answer. It probably is a ma'ter en which he himself has not yet reached a final decision.

MDC Plans $3 Million 'Face Lift' For Ol' Charles River

Charles River, along with some of its feeder streams, which have a tendency to go rambunctious when flood conditions prevail, is in for a face-lifting.

The Metropolitan District Commission has $3 million ear-marked for the face-lifting job in a folder marked "Flood Control."

Residents of Newton, Needham and Dedham who love their Charles, when it behaves, and get ready to move when it doesn't, will be interested in the plans the MDC has for the future of the parent river and such tributaries as Mother Brook and Neponset River.

Key projects for the future of the old Charles include the reconstruction of the Charles River dam at Newton Upper Falls and the dredging of the Neponset and Charles River as on the Neponset River in Hyde well as Mother Brook in Ded-sales tax bill which Governor Furcolo sponsored and fought for earlier this year.

Since Vaitses voted against the measure when the members of the House were called upon to stand up and be counted for or against it, it did not require too much political sagacity to realize that he was not being sincere in reviving the proposal.

But other sales tax bills have been submitted by legislators who were completely sincere in their actions and who genuinely believe that the adoption of a sales tax is necessary to enable the cities and the towns of the Commonwealth to cope with the financial problems confronting them.

were able to avoid a tax rate increase this year and that tained a manger. just as few will be able to prevent another rise in 1958. In some instances the hikes will be staggering—unless a sales tax is placed on the statute books.

A sales tax could be adopted in the coming year if it were made a non-partisan issue, supported jointly by Democrats and Republicans, with neither party standing to reap any political profit or capital from it.

A bi-partisan measure has been filed for consideration at the next legislative session by Republican State Senator Philip G. Bowker and Democratic Representative Louis Glaser. They submitted their carefully prepared bill because they believe a sales tax is needed, not because they were trying to embarrass Governor Furcolo or anyone Glaser voted for and energetically supported Furcolo's bill this year. Whether Bowker would have voted for it is uncertain since it did not reach the Senate and there was strong opposition to certain phases of the measure. There is no question, however, but that he will support the proposal he and Glaser are sponsoring.

Representatives of various civic organizations, who have studied and examined the Bowker-Glaser bill, report that it has been carefully conceived and drafted and that they will endorse and back it vigorously when the strategic time arrives for them to do so.

What attitude Governor Furcolo will take on the matter is the big question. It could not be adopted unless he made an all-out fight for it and placed Democratic legislators on the line behind it.

A majority of Furcolo's advisers believe the Governor should not make a drive for a sales tax in an election year and will counsel him against doing so.

That doesn't necessarily mean that Furcolo will follow their advice. They were just as strongly opposed to his coming out for a sales tax last January. The Governor at that time listened to their arguments and then made up his own mind.

The same thing could happen again. For whatever you may think of Foster Furcolo, whether you feel he has been a good governor or a poor one, he does make his own decisions. Nobody else makes them for him.

A strange thing about the position taken by Furcolo's anti-sales tax advisers is that they maintain on the one hand that he helped rather than hurt himself politically by battling for a sales tax this year. But then they argue in effect that he might injure his chances of achieving reelection if he makes another fight next year for a sales

It isn't easy to reconcile their two conflicting positions. On the surface, at least, it would seem that if Governor Furcolo would be hurt by advocating a sales tax in 1958, then he already has been damaged by seeking one in 1957. And those persons who spoke out in glowing terms this year concerning Furcolo's courage in urging a sales tax might review their estimates if he backs away from the issue in an election year.

Those are all factors which the Governor himself undoubtedly will weigh before he reaches his decision as to what course he will chart for himself on the sales tax question during the coming legislative session.

Whatever Furcolo finally decides, an all-out fight for a the shut-sales tax will be made on Beacon Hill during the year just forunate. ahead. Officials of a large number of cities and towns will seek a sales tax as the only solution for the financial problems facing their communities. They anticipate that civic groups and many of the newspapers of the Commonwealth will join with them again in their campaign.

Governor Furcolo, if he chose, could, of course, stand aloof from such a battle. If he did the sales tax measure would be defeated. But in view of the long, determined fight he made this year, his position would be a rather awkward one.

The Bowker-Glaser bill, around which the sales tax advocates apparently will rally, would raise $120 million, according to estimates. Of that sum, under the terms of the measure, $80 million would be distributed to the cities and towns, $20 million would go to the State, and $20 million would be used to reduce the present State income tax.

Governor Furcolo sought $35 million for the State in his bill. He probably would be reluctant to shave that figure. But he, too, faces the necessity of digging up additional money to help finance the operation of the State government, and $20 million should help. The situation confronting him is an unusual one.

a good part of the outside world is celebrating a Holy Day called Christmas. Pravda won't say much or anything about that and if the Russian radio talks about stars in the sky, it will probably be about one they made themselves—one that isn't exactly designed to betoken peace on earth and good will among men.

WHAT DO YOU SEE AT CHRISTMAS?

There are a lot of things about Christmas that everybody sees. The colored lights. The Christmas trees. The store decorations. The counters filled with dazzling gifts. Homes decorated, streets decorated.

Everybody sees Christmas cards, bells, and street corner Santas. There are carol singers, mistletoe, holly and evergreen wreaths. We see hurrying crowds of shoppers, enlarged toy departments stores, overloaded mail trucks, express packages piled high beside the trains.

We see fires in the hearth, stockings hung with care, tables laden with good things to eat. And they are all a part of Christmas.

But all of these things are often too easy for us to see. Perhaps this year we should look extra hard for the "Spirit of Christmas." Let's look for the great amount of good in all people; it shines best at Christmas time. Let's look at the faces of little children for the real happiness of Christ-Let's look out for the needs of less forunate people, the shut-ins, the lonely, the un-

Is There A Santa?

In keeping with the spirit of Christmas, we take pleasure in reprinting the famous Christmas editorial that appeared several years ago in the New York Sun. Like so many folks today, young and old, Virginia O'Hanlon wanted to know the truth about Santa Claus. Her letter to the editor and his reply

Yes, Virginia, there is a

Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How lived, could tear apart. Only give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Virginias. There could be no child-like faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The

Volunteers Needed For Polio Drive

Volunteers are needed to aid in the forthcoming March of Dimes campaign in Newton, according to Louis Sternberg of 23 Longmeadow road, Newton, who has been named chairman of the March of Dimes cam-paign for Newton by Middlesex County Chapter chairman John

The volunteers are needed, the chairman said, to assemble kits, address mail appeal envelopes, distribute coin collectors and help out a number of spe cial events planned for the campaign. Anyone wishing to help may call Mr. Sternberg at LA 7-

Chairman Sternberg pointed out that the March of Dimes campaign is independent of all other drives. "We all know," he said, "that the picture of polio is changing. Salk vaccine has proven a decisive weapon in the battle against new paralytic polio.

"But that doesn't automatically make the disabilities of thousands of past victims disappear. They still need care and rehabilitation to restore them, as far as humanly possible, to productive and happy lives. The volunteer is a key person in this important objective."

Showing the extent of the Middlesex County Chapter expenses in the care of polio victims are these figures: Last January, the March of Dimes campaign in the county took in $313,000. The expense of patient care in the county this year will be almost $400,000. The Middlesex County Chapter has expended more than $5,000 each on several polio victims for medical treatment, hospital care and rehabilitation. In 1956 the chap-ter expended $629,000 on pa-tient aid, which was $209,000 more than was obtained in the campaign for funds in the county.

In the last four years there have been 185 cases of polio in Newton.

Keeping this city's 39 school buildings up to snuff is com-parable to the task of keeping 500 Cape Cod houses in good condition, with similar prob-lems of heating, plumbing, painting, cleaning, wind washing, and ground care. window

If you are acquainted with the problem of keeping one home in relatively good shape you can see that 500 would be a large headache. Problems are barely solved in one building before they crop up in another. Mr. Gilleland, however, seems equal to the job and appears to tackle it with relish. Paper Large Item

Slide rule in hand, he en-deavored to pull out a few interesting statistics for us. For example, on a normally cold, dark winter day, it takes $1000 a day to heat Newton's class rooms and $310 a day to light

The paper that Betsy finger-paints on and that Billy arduously learns to print on, all costs money. Gilleland estimates that pupils use about 32 tons of construction, yellow rule, newsprint, composition and other varieties of paper per year, while the teachers use about ten tons.

It will come as no surprise to parents of grade schoolers that pupils bring home about four pounds of paper projects a year-for mom and dad to admire and display on the mantel or to surreptitously stuff in the trash barrel.

$344 Per Pupil Paying for the education of 16,000 youngsters per year is roughly equivalent to educating entire cities the size of Boulder, Colo., or Keene, N. H., or nearly the whole population of such neighboring towns as Needham or Natick.

Newton is spending $344 this year on each pupil, including the funds it receives from the state. Last year it spent $320 per pupil, ranking fifth in the state in cities of over 20,000 population. Brookline and Cambridge spend the most per pupil, $395 and $374 respectively.

A typical young homeowne in this community, paying about $450 a year in taxes and sending three youngsters to the public schools, can consider himself way ahead of the game.

Gets Money's Worth
In addition to the other municipal services he receives, his children are getting over $1000 worth of education a year.
This knowledge may make it a bit easier for struggling young parents to pay their taxes, but won't be much solace to the rest of the community

Other rankings relative to amounts of money spent on education reveal that Newton is second in Massachusetts in funds spent on high school pupils, eighth in funds spent for elementary school, fourth in costs of books and supplies, and sixth in salaries paid to women teachers.

Common pins are the smallest items Gilleland buys, and a ¾ ton panel truck would be about largest. Scotch tape, a popular item in the schools, is all-too-handy according to Gilleland, as it does expensive damage when stuck to painted walls

Phone Bills High Some relatively expensive items that must be bought from time to time are type writers, business machines, mimeographs, recording ma-chines, pianos, and stage curtains, which cost in the neighborhood of $1200. Transportation-at $260 day—is a small item for a city of this size, due to the strategic location of most of the schools. Telephone bills mount to a total of $1650 every month-a staggering $20,000 a year. Refurbishing of rooms and corridors goes on almost con-tinuously, and Gilleland found it impossible to estimate ac-curately at this time the cost of furniture replacement. Desks are always being refinished and interior and exterior painting and other general maintenance takes a healthy chunk of the budget.

Invisible Cost Also coming out of the budget is the more-or-less hidden cost buildings. Figures show that Newton schools were occupied 144 after school or evening hours in September and 942 hours in October. Approved groups may use the buildings at no cost except for payment of the custodian's services.

"People want and should have this privilege," says Gilleland, but should also remember that the heat, light and deprecia tion are part of our expenses.'

His task is a difficult oneto give the taxpayers the most for their money without sacrificing the quality of their children's equipment. It entails careful study of the relative performance of everything from stop watches to pitch pipes, and makes school purchasing one of the city's major munici-

Give Percussion DEdham 3-4000 Concert At Meadowbrook

A well-rounded concert, featuring vibra-cussion and percussion instruments, was presented last week at the Meadow-brook Junior High School by Robert W. Hayward, drum in-structor in Newton, Milton and Winchester.

These unusual instruments emphasized the musical quality and beauty, that may be produced by the orchestral drummer. Several selections of various musical types were played on marimba, vibraphone, chimes, tympani, or kettle drums. Some interesting oriental effects were obtained by some pupils from the audience, who played the Korean temple blocks and the Chinese gong, while Mr. Hayward aided them with the marimba, tom tom and chimes.

The course includes " a reading and discussion on intelligent dissenters as a stimulant to sound thinking and sane expression," It uses readings as a spring-board to writing on the basis that "effective writing presumes something of value to write about," according to T. Jerome Cutting, the instructor and a member of the Newton Junior College and Newton High faculties.

The prospectus of the course includes reference to Thoreau's Walden and Civil Disobedience, Huxley's Brave New World, Houy's Human Destiny, Mumford's Golden Day, Whitehead's Aims of Education, Russell's Unpopular Essays and Con-quest of Happiness and other significant modern writings.

Cutting, a Yale alumnus who has done graduate work at both Yale and Harvard has 29 years of teaching experience. A long-time hockey player and coach he is also a member of the college's faculty committee on athletics. Registration for the course may be made by telephoning the college or by registering in person on Tuesday, Jan. 28, p.m. The college also has courses in Spanish, Psychology and Greater Authors in its liberal arts general education evening program.

Anthony Davis PRESENTS HIS EXCLUSIVE BODY WAVE $10.00

The Body Wave is a form of permanent waving used on hair that either has a little natural wave or hair that waves easily.

It does not add appreciably to the amount of wave already in the hair. but gives such strength and resiliency to the wave as to make the hair seem naturally wavy and remarkably easy to put up. It is for hair to which the ordinary permanent wave (however soft) gives too much curl. It is not generally advisable for straight hair.

Holiday Sacrifice

Out in the offices of the National Safety Council in Chicago, they come up with some pretty grim figures every time a holiday looms on the horizon.

For days before any given holiday, they'll spend hour after hour analyzing statistics, studying trends and figuring the nation's mood generally. Then they'll feed amazing releases to the press services for newspaper reader consumption all over the country.

It's a sort of numbers game. Sort of an excursion into the realms of an exact science.

Now, some motorist who has more than his share of liquid-form holiday cheer, driving along Rt. 128 or elsewhere isn't concerned with figures at 1 o'clock New Year's morning. He wants to get home. So do the passengers who've entrusted their lives in his hands, even though they don't realize the fact at the moment. Usually they've been doing their part to give a hilarious welcome to the Last year 706 men, women and children heard the screams of tortured rubber on the highway, during the four-day Christmas holiday period. Some of them in a few split seconds saw the coming impact which was to take away their lives. Most of them died right on the scene or within a short time after.

That toll of 706 lives shocked everyone who read about it. It was pretty close to the estimate of the National Safety Council.

The shock was severe enough to have a good effectif, indeed, wholesale death can ever produce good. At any rate when the New Year's holiday period rolled around a few days later ONLY 409 men and women and children were killed on the highways.

ONLY is a shocking word to use in such a connotation but there was a modicum of satisfaction expressed by safety engineers when they compiled highway death figures for the Jan. 1, 1957, weekend. It is like saying— "Well, we got out of that one pretty well—we kept the sacrifice down to 409 lives."

As though human life must be the sacrifice for the proper celebration of an American holiday!

Back in the days of barbaric civilizations they used to have holidays, too. They hadn't invented an instrument of death called the automobile. They simply built huge pyres. When the flames reached their most rapacious point, they'd fling a few humans into the fiery red maw.

They didn't keep any statistics in those days. Their civilization hadn't reached the refinements we know today.

They didn't dress their victims in tuxedoes and evening dress-the way some of the men and women who'll die on the coming weekend will be garbed.

Nor did the victims go to death singing and jovial— the way some of the men and women who'll perish in the grand welcome to the year 1958 A.D. will meet their end.

The barbarians just decided to have a holiday. Their ruler would say to himself — "Let's see. We have a holiday coming up. Let's have a nice sacrifice. Let's reduce the population by a hundred or so."

It was all cut and dried in those days. No imagination. No technique.

We celebrate our holidays in a different manner. More civilized, if you will.

First of all it's like a lottery. The victims don't know

Some of them elect themselves for the sacrificial role, though they don't know they're doing it at the time.

They'll say - "Well, just one more for the road." They'll say — "Don't worry, don't worry — I drive better with a few drinks aboard.'

They'll say - "Shucks everyone on the road will be as drunk as I. Then on Jan. 2, when the offices reopen after the holiday in Chicago, the National Safety Council will begin toting up the sacrifice and figure out how close its prediction had come to accuracy.

It's a very exact science. You never know who'll be next to go when a civilized nation celebrates a holiday and that fine modern invention called the automobile is put into gear. You only know a lot of people aren't going to

In 1950 he made an ill-fated bid for the GOP nomination for lieutenant governor. That was the year the Lodge organization in Massachusetts backed Admiral Louis E. Denfeld for the Republican endorsement for Governor.

McLean joined forces with Denfeld, and the two raged an unusual campaign, running together as a team. Neither was able to survive the primary.

Denfeld finished second to the late Arthur W. Cool- ment of a sales tax. idge after a six-man primary battle that drained the GOP financially and wrecked its chances for the subsequent election, and McLean lost the nomination for lieutenant governor to Laurence Curtis, now a member of

It was that bitter and costly primary which caused Bay State Republicans to start the move for the restoration of the convention system of endorsing candidates for the GOP State ticket.

THE NEWTON GRAPHIC, Thurs., Dec. 26, 1957 Seven New Aldermen Bring Varied Personalities And Philosophies To Board

By PHYLLIS NEWTON

Now that all the shooting is over and most of the campaign smoke has blown away, it may clear enough to take a closer look at just who was voted into office on Nov. 5 to serve on Newton's Board of Aldermen.

Even in a "non-partisan" election in a well-bred city such as ours, battle lines are drawn and the crossfire of campaign sniping often creates enough smog to film over both issues and personalities until well after the ballots are counted.

Democrats Challenged to Cite One Big Furcolo Achievement

Before leaving for a short vacation in the South, where he plans to store up energy for the campaign he will shortly undertake, GOP Chairman Gibbons challenged Democratic State Committee Chairman John M. Lynch to name one outstanding achievement Governor Furcolo has to show for the first year of his administration.

"Almost any Governor in the past has been able to point to several outstanding achievements which were produced in a 12-months period," declared Gibbons, "but I don't believe that any Democrat can cite even one worthwhile accomplishment for the first half of Governor Furcolo's term of office."

Gibbons charged that the economic climate in Massachusetts has deteriorated badly since Furcolo assumed office. He declared that industrial leaders have lost confidence in the State administration and that there are 95,000 people receiving unemployment compensation in Massachusetts today as compared to 54,000 at this time a year ago.

The GOP chairman said that the State Department of Commerce, which functioned so effectively under former Governor Herter, has accomplished nothing for the State this year.

The comparison between Governor Furcolo's record for the first half of his term and the record for any one of the four years Covernor Herter was in office is a pretty sorry one," Gibbons maintained.

Chairman Gibbons asserted that workers already are beginning to feel the effect of the deterioration which has occurred in the Bay State's industrial climate and warned that they are likely to feel its impact even more strongly during 1958.

Democratic Chairman Lynch could not be reached for a comment on Gibbons' challenge, but other Democrats who were asked what they considered the outstanding achievement of Furcolo's administration fumbled around and finally changed the subject.

One Democrat said he considered the most noteworthy feature of the first year of the Furcolo regime was the Governor's courage in advocating a sales tax in the face of strong opposition in his own party. But he conceded that it couldn't actually be listed as an achievement since Furcolo did not succeed in accomplishing the enact-

Newton swept into the lead at the outset of the contest, chalking up five tallies in the

the basis of their need it was the best Christmas ever. Each of them had gifts to show yesterday, and the party at the workshop was a gala af-fair they will long remember. Refreshments consisting of ice cream, cocoa and cookies were served, and a Santa Claus distributed stockings of candy and the gifts donated by B. S. Edwards, Barron's Parke Snow's and the Newton Centre Woolworth store. Prescott Brown of 11 Crock-

James Marino, assisted by Richard Egan and Sanford Simpson, directed the shopping tour.

Other members of the Junior Chamber who accompanied the children on the shopping tour included President Arthur Hor ton, Robert Stackhouse, Edward Scanlan, John Stevens, Samuel Clapper, William Mc-Kinnon, Haron McKenna, Carleton P. Merrill. Arthur Garrison. Kenneth Licht, Trevor Merrill, Anne McDonald, Alice Whitmore and Lewis F. Simons. After holding the party for the 31 children and taking them on a shopping tour, the energetic members of the Junior Chamber made purchases of gifts with donations which came in at the 11th hour and delivered them to other young-sters in needy homes.
